18th Biennial ACSUS Conference, Millennium Hotel, St. Louis, MO, November 16—20, 2005.
ACSUS recently launched a new program, the ACSUS Fund for the Arts, with the support of Foreign Affairs Canada, to support a number of arts and literary events promoting the diversity and multicultural nature of Canadian society at U.S. universities and colleges.

The fund was established by members and friends of ACSUS to build a sustainable Fund for the Future that will be used strategically to enhance Canadian Studies in the U.S. With the assistance of a matching grant made available by Foreign Affairs Canada in 2004, and through a proactive inside campaign, ACSUS has been successful in raising over US$45,000 to date from its membership.

ACSUS has introduced a new honor: The ACSUS Citizenship Award—to recognize an individual who has gone above and beyond the call of duty through his/her volunteerism at ACSUS and who has contributed to the long term economic development of ACSUS.

ACSUS has established a separate fund for an ARCS endowment. The endowment will be formally established once a critical mass of funding has been reached.

6) Activités / Activities
(conference, colloquia, etc./conférence, colloques, etc.)
After a busy year 2002-2004, this has been a relatively quiet year for NACS, partly in preparation for the triennial conference in August 2005. We had planned a major new initiative in summer 2004: a Nordic summer school in Canadian Studies. Due to a series of unforeseen problems, this very regrettably had to be canceled, but NACS hopes to return to the project in the future.

Other NACS-sponsored events (May 2004 – May 2005):
(1) January 2005: teaching visits by Dr Britta Olinder to Turku/Finland, Tampere/Finland, and Reykjavik/Iceland to hold lectures and/or intensive seminars on contemporary Canadian women writers
(2) March 2005: co-sponsors of Canadian event at Gothenburg University Arts Faculty Festival

7) Publications

8) Youth / Jeunes
(prix, thèses, bourses, etc.)
Two research scholarships awarded for students at Nordic or Baltic researching master’s theses in Canadian studies: Dorthe Madgaard (Aarhus) and Ditte Staun (Aarhus)

9) Activities between associations or centres / Activités entre associations ou centres
NACS contributed to the conference “Place and Memory in Canada: Global Perspectives” held by the Polish and Central European Associations in Krakow, May 2004, by funding one keynote speaker (Wayne Johnson), who also visited and spoke at the Canadian Studies Centre at the University of Silesia.

NACS members also attended conferences of the German Association ( Grainau, February 2005) and Northern Research Forum, (Yellowknife/NWT, September) and presented papers at conferences of the British and Polish Associations (London, April; Krakow May 2004) and at the Baltic conference in Tarto (October).

10) FAC grants / Bourses des AEC
(nombre and type/nombre et type)
NB: Although the Associations provide the juries which evaluate applications for Faculty Research and Faculty Enrichment Awards, information about what grants have been awarded is never sent to the Associations by FAC. It is therefore, frustratingly, a matter of chance whether the Association ever hears about the outcome of these applications. Our own members may – or may not – inform us; applicants from the Baltic countries, for which we also serve as jury, are very unlikely to do so.

The Association does not directly engage in research activities, but does award two scholarships each year for master’s level students from Nordic universities to carry out research in Canada.

The primary areas of research supported by the IACS are in the fields of the Social Sciences, Humanities and Law. Most of the research focuses on comparative studies between Israel and Canada.

The Israel Association for Canadian Studies Graduate Research Fellowship, made possible thanks to the support of Foreign Affairs Canada, is designed to assist Ph.D. and M.A. students at Israeli universities who are working on a dissertation or thesis that has significant Canadian content. The fellowship provides funding which allows the recipient to collect data in Canada, meet Canadian experts in their field and also to take courses at Canadian universities. Four proposals were selected for funding in 2004:

Visite des experts aux universités dans les mois juin et octobre 2005

A partir de cette année nous déterminerons ces données à travers un diagnostic qu’on fera avec les coordinateurs des centres des études canadiennes de chaque université.

L’AVEC est en train de répondre aux besoins et demandes des professeurs universitaires intéressés de créer des centres des études canadiennes dans quelques autres universités vénézuéliennes.
L’AVEC s’occupe, aussi, d’orienter aux professionnels qui demandent des orientations sur les programmes de bourses donnés par le gouvernement canadien.
L’parution du site web de l’AVEC permettra de mettre au jour le numéro de personnes inscrites à l’association et quelques autres données. A travers ce site les avecistes obtiendrant, pour la première fois, les cartes d’identité aux personnes qui se soient inscrites à l’association. Ce carte va les permettre d’obtenir quelques bénéfices : prix spéciaux dans les événements et l’achat des publications, l’obtention gratuite des certificats, etc.
Le Conseil d’administration de l’AVEC étudie la possibilité d’obtenir des espaces aux mass medias a fin de diffuser les activités de l’association et de mieux se rapprocher aux étudiants des universités.
Aussi, il y a la disposition de créer des nouveaux projets dirigés aux jeunes.

Title: International Conference on North Korean Human Rights Issues and Canada’s Role in the International Community

Key speakers:

The Hon. Maurice F. Strong, Special Advisor to the Secretary-General of the United Nations
Dr. Kun-su Chang, Professor Emeritus, Pohang University of Science and Technology
Mr. Erich Weingartner, Former Head of the Food Aid Liaison of the United Nations World Food Program
Dr. Ho-Ryoung Lee, Korea Institute for Defense Analyses
Dr. Kyung-Ae Park, Department of Political Science, University of British Columbia
Dr. Hae-Ryong Kwak, Department of Political Science, Myongji University

Highlights:

Since the establishment of diplomatic relations between Canada and North Korea in 2001, Canada has been expected to contribute to finding a peaceful and constructive solution to the North Korean problem. Canada is the fourth of the G-8 nations to recognize Pyongyang, after Russia, Italy and Britain. Since 1997 Ottawa has donated more than $30 million in humanitarian aid to North Korea through the United Nations World Food Program and Canadian aid organizations like CIDA. Canada has been also providing unwavering support to the South Korean government’s effort to resolve the North Korean nuclear issue by means of genuine dialogue and realistic negotiation with the only remaining Stalinist state.

Despite the international community’s clear preference for a stable and open polity in North Korea, the socialist country has not been successful in meeting the expectations of neighboring countries. The situation seems worse than ever largely because the North Korean government’s failure to comply with international demands led to greater agony on the part of its own population. Although a growing number of scholars and experts have recently turned their attention to the issues of North Korean refugees and human rights violation, those “human security” issues are still overshadowed by the eye-catching headlines on the country’s nuclear weapons program. Moreover, it seems often ignored that “high politics” issues such as the nuclear weapons program and “low politics” issues such as refugees and human rights are intertwined.

The conference will address the complexity of and feasible solutions to the North Korean problem in terms of human security and examine the role of Canada as an advanced nation in diplomatic and logistical skills toward the goal of achieving a stable security order. At a time of globalized terrorism and the subsequent spread of human security threats, Canada’s huge arsenal of “soft power” should provide a crucial backing to local, national, international as well as individual efforts for a “securitization” of ordinary people’s lives. Canada’s active engagement in international programs for enhancing human security in Northeast Asia will also help to promote the trading nation’s interests in the world’s most rapidly expanding market. Given the urgency of the North Korean nuclear issues and a growing interest in human security (especially of its Canadian kind), the conference is expected to attract a lot of attention from the media and general public well beyond the academic and policy communities. The conference will contribute to reminding Koreans that Canada is an important stakeholder in the peace and prosperity of the Korean peninsula and Northeast Asia at large, not just another paradise.

   We try to encourage students to join by instituting programs allowing modest support for research trips within Poland, and, in the case of Ph.D. students, also abroad, and for conference participation. We have also recently started a “student essays” section on our website, to promote outstanding essays on Canadian topic. We offer the following grants designed to encourage active participation to all our members:

   Conference grants - allow to cover travel expenses for Canadianists (PACS members) who attend conferences outside Poland or do their research in European libraries. The grants are offered yearly in two rounds.
Library grants - to allow a partial cover of travel expenses and accommodation for undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate students as well as for other scholars (PACS members) who plan to do their research in the libraries of Canadian Studies Centres in Poland.

Best M.A. Thesis Award – This PACS Award is designed to promote each year an outstanding M.A. thesis on a Canadian topic written in Poland (in either Polish, French or English), and which contributes to a better understanding of Canada in Poland. The award is consistent with the ICCS's strategy of fostering a new generation of Canadianists: (awardee 2004: Marcin Gabryś – Canadian-American Border Conflicts in the years 1783-1842)

9) Activities between associations or centres / Activités entre associations ou centres

Our strongest international links are with the Central-European Association for Canadian Studies (formerly the Central European Canadian Studies Network that PACS belonged to). For a few years now we have cooperated on the publication of the Central European Canadian Studies Journal, and other ventures. Last year we co-organized the conference "Place and Memory in Canada: Global Perspectives" in Kraków (Poland). PACS is also part of the European Network for Canadian Studies (ENCS).

10) FAC grants / Bourses des AEC (number and type/nombre et type)

3 FEP grants; 2 FRP grants; 1 Graduate Students Scholarship; 1 ICCS-CIEC Biennial Conference Student Participation Scholarship

11) Research / Recherches (principal areas and projects/sujets principaux et projets)

Literature is the dominant discipline. History and social sciences are also well-represented. Among PACS members one can find experts in Canadian theatre, cinema and media, Native issues (history, culture, literature, etc.), environmental issues, Canadian history and literature (both French and English), political sciences, linguistics, sociology, culture and identity studies, gender and immigration studies.
